Advantage through networking.

Excellent contacts and substantial exchange of information are essential for sector experts, both for day-to-day operations and future-oriented career planning. That is why Westhouse, together with partners, has founded sapiendo GmbH, operating the sector-specific networking portal OnCircus.com.

OnCircus.com specifically addresses the SAP market. It allows the professional maintenance of contacts and contains numerous sector-specific functionalities.

Numerous advantages due to intelligent functionalities:

Top sector contacts

Relevant information and files can be added to the personal member profile at one's discretion. Special search and filter functions make sure the user always finds the expert she or he was looking for.

Consultant rating

The functionality "consultant rating" is a key factor for market transparency and quality. The rating system allows insight into good references that the consultants have received and is based on collected recommendations. A detailed overview of the rating can be displayed within the member profile.

Timesheet function

This function makes it possible for SAP consultants and developers to record and organize their project contributions and their travel expenses. The integrated authorization procedure guarantees a smooth operation of the process.

Specialized job search

The spectrum of functions of OnCircus.com also includes a job search agent offering a wide range of useful functionalities both for recruiters and consultants.
